

100% Money Back
Guarantee

Vendor:OMSB

Exam Code:OMSB_OEN

Exam Name:Omani Examination for Nurses

Version:Demo

QUESTION 1

A head nurse of an intensive care unit wants to ensure that the staff are performing Basic Life Support (BLS) based on latest American Heart Association's guidelines. What will be the head nurse's BEST action?

- A. Review the BLS policy periodically
- B. Perform regular mocks on BLS in the unit
- C. Send staff to renew BLS certification every three years
- D. Monitor the staff performing BLS during the actual scene

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 2

While caring for a patient diagnosed with cerebrovascular accident, the nurse noted that the patient is unable to recognize familiar objects. The nurse would use which of the following terms to describe the finding?

- A. Apraxia
- B. Agnosia
- C. Aphasia
- D. Anopsia

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 3

A nurse is assigned to care for a client diagnosed with brain cancer who is undergone radiation therapy. On assessment, the nurse notes cachexia. Which of the following nursing measures would take FIRST for this client?

- A. Encourage high protein and high calorie diet
- B. Encourage frequent oral hygiene
- C. Encourage daily physical activity
- D. Encourage small cold meals

Correct Answer: A

QUESTION 4

A nurse received a handover to take care of four patients. After gathering the necessary information, the nurse planned the care. Considering the priority of nursing care, which of the following cases the nurse would assess FIRST?

- A. A patient with abdominal pain
- B. A patient with chest tightness
- C. A patient with diabetic foot needs dressing
- D. A patient scheduled for cataract surgery after 3 hours

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 5

A staff nurse was entering patient's clinical notes in the computer, and had to leave to attend an immediate call without completion of recording. Another nurse used the account of the previous nurse to enter her notes. Which of the following BEST describes the ethical issue that was committed?

- A. Negligence
- B. Malpractice
- C. Breach of privacy
- D. Breach of confidentiality

Correct Answer: D

QUESTION 6

An infant with bladder exstrophy has undergone a successful surgical repair and is due for discharge. The nurse is providing the infant's parents with discharge education on the long-term effect of the condition on the infant's body. Which of the following management aspects the nurse should emphasize?

- A. Maintaining a high-fiber diet for lifelong
- B. Limiting physical activities for one year
- C. Providing counseling in relation to fertility status
- D. Discouraging tub baths for the next three months

Correct Answer: C

QUESTION 7

A nurse is providing education to a new parent about the psychosocial development of the newborn. Applying Erikson's psychosocial development theory, the nurse would BEST instruct the parents to:

- A. Ignore and distract the newborn when crying
- B. Anticipate and plan for the newborn demands
- C. Observe and respond to the newborn signals of needs
- D. Provide and maintain comfortable environment for newborn

Correct Answer: C

QUESTION 8

While reviewing medication charts, the nurse observed that one patient received a wrong medication that was prescribed for another patient with similar first and last name. What is the BEST nursing action for reporting the incident?

- A. The nurse states client's comment by using direct codes
- B. The nurse should report and document the incident immediately
- C. The nurse assesses client's vital signs and keep him under observation
- D. The nurse reports the incident to senior nurse who assist writing the report

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 9

A 50-year-old multi-para woman complains of a soft bulge of tissue in her vagina. It is uncomfortable to her and is protruding through her vaginal orifice. The woman expresses her anxiety regarding her situation. What is the IMMEDIATE action of the nurse?

- A. Refers the woman to the doctor
- B. Educates the woman about her diet
- C. Reassures the woman about her condition
- D. Teaches the woman about Kegel exercises

Correct Answer: A

QUESTION 10

A group of nurses conducted a community-based diabetes self-management program. The program includes blood glucose self-monitoring and self-administering insulin injection. Which of the following would be the BEST method the nurse would implement?

- A. Audiovisual method
- B. Teach back method
- C. Focus group method
- D. Group discussion method

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 11

A mother of a newborn is diagnosed with breast cancer, the surgeon recommended to carry out an emergency operation. According to Freud's theory, which stage of newborn development is being affected?

- A. Oral stage
- B. Anal stage
- C. Phallic stage
- D. Latent stage

Correct Answer: A

QUESTION 12

A nurse is preparing a care plan for a patient with kidney failure on maintaining optimal sleep and comfort level. Which of the following sleep disorders require priority intervention?

- A. Somnolence
- B. Parasomnia
- C. Hypersomnia
- D. Somnambulism

Correct Answer: A